

Wedding Hair and Makeup Tips

Your wedding should be a reflection of your personality and so should your make up. A lot of money and time is spent on the preparations for the big day, the dress, the venue, the flowers and the food. Often the most important detail, the main event, the bride herself will skimp on the cost for professional hair and makeup. The investment is too great to have the right look for wedding not to be right. By all means spend the money and do a trial run to be sure the vision fits your dreams. Bring several things to that trial run: Your dress or a picture of your dress, your veil, pictures from magazines of looks that you like for hair and make up, a camera, and a picture of you that expresses your "personal style". Often people come for wedding day hair and make up with no trial run and with no ideas what they want. They will be in with sweat clothes, no make up and of course hair not done. The make up artist and stylist have no idea about the brides style or her vision. The bride expects them to perform miracles and do what they {the stylist and artist} think. It is not the stylist's or makeup artist's wedding. There are books available at the salon but often the bride, bridal party and the mother of the bride are too stressed to make decisions at that point. At Santa Fe Day Spa we can assist brides in creating the most spectacular event of her life, but be prepared and be sure to purchase the lip stick, lip-gloss and lip pencil for touch ups after the wedding kiss!

Remember to make your appointments early enough so that if you or the artist runs late for any unforeseen reason that you are not stressed for time. Arrive for your services ahead of time. Decompress! Check on your appointments and be sure the appointments are running on time. Insist on an estimation of when your appointments are to start so you can be prepared.

Now some tips and trends for bridal makeup are the colors trends mention above and also airbrush foundation and eyelash enhancements. Bridal makeup should be clean and flawless, yet dewy and enhanced. Color choices are warm tone colors such as cream, gold, pastel green, peaches and browns or cool tone colors such as lilacs, violets, plums and soft pinks. A bride should not look like she is going to the club or to an evening party. The makeup consistency has to be medium or low. Remember that neutral colors are always an excellent choice to achieve an enhanced natural look for a sophisticated and sexy bride.

Neutral, earthy eye colors are always an excellent choice to achieve an enhanced natural look for a sophisticated and sexy bride. The colors should be subtle and muddled. Neutral browns could come in the slight hints of pink or green or gray. Taupe is a popular neutral brown with a hint of plum color to it. Bridal makeup must be durable and resistant to last the whole event. It must work for pictures, film and also look flawless in actual and close-up.

The whole look for the bride should follow the same theme for the hair, gown, shoes and jewelry. For example a sophisticated look would be an up-do with neutral browns in either cool or warm tones. A romantic look would be a half up and half down look with maybe a slight smoky eye using some grey tones and pearlized pigments. A modern, chic bride look might be a ponytail, low-do or bun at the nap of the neck with very clean, dewy makeup. Very light handed natural makeup application.
